

George Strait #4

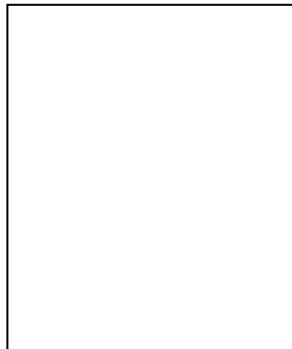

1) In your own words, please:

- Define what HTML is, and where it started.
- Explain what HTML is used for in technical and professional communication.
- Explain what the difference between HTML and a traditional paper document is.

2) In the thumbnail sketches provided below, please draw a document template. Include a title, header, page numbers, along with a column layout, at least one generic graphic and a caption for the graphic. Also, please suggest a specific font you would use as well as explaining what point size you would use for each text element.

First Page

Left Pages

Right Pages